

WWHEL Conference Speakers - 2019

Meg Daly

Combining a warm, relatable spirit with intuitive leadership skills, Meg Daly knows how to tap into an individual's strengths to help them elevate their energy and create new realities for their lives. She is passionate about helping each individual, no matter what their organizational role, to discover their unique gifts, so they can create a more effective life at work and at home. By cultivating true self-acceptance and self-possession, Meg's clients are able to shift powerfully from "I want to" all the way over to "I am."

Meg brings to her work over 20 years of experience in senior leadership and sales training roles in the medical and diagnostics industry, including organizations such as Quest Diagnostics, National Dentex Corporation, and Abbot Labs. She now works with clients in a wide variety of fields as well as with individuals in transition.

Meg graduated from the University of Wisconsin- Madison with a degree in Secondary Education, holds a certification in the Pursuit Values System, and is a member of the International Coaching Federation. In her free time, she enjoys sharing her coaching services to women in financial distress.

You can learn more about her by visiting www.mojomeg.com as well as her blog at MKE Lifestyle Magazine, www.mkelifestyle.com

Allison Garner

Allison Garner is a leadership coach and consultant, founder of Align Coaching, LLC, and author of "Think Possible: The Light and Dark Side of Never Running Out of Ideas". Her clients are visionaries, challengers of the status quo, and never run out of ideas. They use their coaching and consulting work with her to deepen their mastery of leadership, develop leaders within their organizations, build high performing teams, and create cultures that humanize the workplace.

Prior to establishing Align Coaching, Allison was a chemical engineering consultant and vice president of a small engineering firm. After nearly 20 years of consulting work which included both domestic and international clients in the mostly male-dominated oil industry, Allison realized her heart's ambition to do more meaningful work in the world through coaching. On the personal side, she has been married for 20 years and has two wonderful kids. In addition, she has served on several Boards of Directors, including being elected to the Oshkosh School Board for 9 years and has served as its Treasurer, Vice President, and President.

WWHEL Conference Speakers - 2019

Annette Jacobson

Annette Jacobson is passionate about helping women say "Yes!" to the amazing life that they are each uniquely born to live. She is the founder of Women Rocking The World, leading and catalyzing women to have the impact on the world that is their own to make, through living the lives they desire and deserve. She inspires and transforms women into their greatness through her speaking, teaching, coaching and writing, sharing her vision and insight.

Pronounced dead at her birth, Annette knew as a young girl that she had a date with destiny. Her journey has included a degree in Statistics from the University of Wisconsin, a successful career in Information Systems, being a homemaker and president of both the PTA and her church. She studied and taught yoga, becoming a certified yoga therapist. She completed the Feminine Power Coaching and Facilitation Programs with Dr. Claire Zammit, and studied Human Potential with Jean Houston. She is a co-author of the book "Inspirational Stories of Success", release date October 2019. To explore what she can do for you, go to www.WomenRockingTheWorld.com.

Ali Starr

Alison Starr started her own business to pursue a passion and a dream. The name of her business is Tashi Deley. It is a Tibet greeting that means "I honor the greatness within you." Prior to creating Tashi Deley she served as the Vice President of Culture Development at Verve, a Credit Union. She had the privilege of being able to positively influence Verve's culture as shown through the latest Gallup engagement score, 34-1. This is 7 times greater than Gallup's average.

Prior to creating Tashi Deley and working at Verve, she was the principal at Lourdes Academy Elementary Schools in Oshkosh, Wisconsin while coaching their High School girls' basketball team. Alison has also worked for the NBA, NCAA, and NBC.

Alison strives to create a culture of servant leadership through developmental trainings, inspirational speaking and one-on-one coaching. Alison takes pride in serving those around her and inspiring others to do the same. Her leadership style is one of self-discovery, empowerment, candor, and unconditional love. She firmly believes servant leadership is a journey not a destination.

Through her experiences, Alison has discovered serving one another is key to fostering an exceptional team culture. She believes when you take care of your team, your team will take care of your customers, and the results will follow. In 2016, she was named a Finalist in the CUES Next Top Credit Union Executive Competition in Savannah, Georgia. Most recently, she shared one of her messages via a TEDx Talk.

Alison received her bachelor's degree in Radio, TV, Film and her master's degree in Educational Leadership. When she is not working, she enjoys golfing, watching basketball, fishing, creating arts/crafts and, last but not least, dance parties with her two children Vincent – ("Vinny", 8) and Penelope – ("PJ", 4).

Alison would love to see all organizations continue to get "better at getting better" through the development of the companies' greatest asset...its people! She lives by the motto: "Who you are is good enough; don't ever stop creating the next best version of yourself. It feels great to grow."